

Taking their Easter lunch break at the recent meeting of the Liberty Homemakers were Miss Julia Savage, left, featured speaker of the morning workshop, and Mrs. Thomas Savage, her niece, president of the Liberty club. The "bright and lively" Miss Savage spoke for two hours on her experiences of teaching deaf children. She simply admits to "being past 90" and has traveled extensively throughout most of the country. As a final note of her talk, she told the ladies she stopped driving just three years ago!
